

Amanda Snipe

Amanda Snipe is an SCCTM ambassador seeking a position as Vice President for Elementary. She is an educator of 12 years with her BA and M.A.T. from the University of South Carolina. Amanda is currently working on her doctoral degree in Education Leadership at Charleston Southern University. Her research interests include teacher retention and educational equity. Currently, Amanda teaches Math 180 in Dorchester Two (DD2) at River Oaks Middle in North Charleston.

Amanda's experiences include serving as a Title 1 Facilitator and Instructional Coach, teaching in grades 4-5, and Math intervention in grades 2-5. She is a Thinking Maps and Action-Based Learning Certified trainer, participated in the DD2 Math Academy, and has presented at district Math conferences. Amanda was named the 2016 Dorchester Two District Teacher of the Year. She also brings experience working on a leadership team, leading teacher forum, and serving as a school liaison. Amanda enjoys running, dining, and spending time with her 3-year old daughter and husband.